Polymer Options Named Authorized Distributor of Kumho Petrochemical Synthetic Resins

Houston, TX – Polymer Options has become an authorized distributor of Kumho Petrochemical Synthetic Resins. Polymer Options offers an extensive selection of Kumho prime resins including HIPS, SAN, ASA, ABS, PC/ABS, and other engineering-grade products for numerous applications ranging from automotive, sports/recreation, and consumer products to electrical and electronic parts.

“As an authorized distributor for Kumho, we now have the opportunity to provide our customers with an even wider variety of quality product options,” said Don Edens, Polymer Options president.

Based in Seoul, Kumho Petrochemical is South Korea's largest corporation and is a global leader in synthetic resins and rubbers, actively engaged in quality improvement and technology development. Polymer Options specializes in providing quality material to meet specific customer requirements in a broad range of industries. Products include prime resins, custom compounds, and high-performance recycled content compounds for environmental initiatives with RoHs compliancy.
